

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

INTRODUCTORY PREFACE.

THE BATH ROYAL LITERARY AND SCIENTIFIC INSTITUTION was established in the year 1825. A building was erected for the purpose by Earl Manvers, on the site of the old Assembly Rooms, which had been destroyed by fire in December 1820. It was originally founded under the care and management of a body of gentlemen, many of whose names will long occupy a prominent position in the annals of literature and science. The primary object of its establishment was "to provide a place of resort, not merely for the studious, but for the inhabitants of Bath generally, and its visitors,—to supply it with a Library of Reference, and the means of information in every branch of science and literature—to provide a suitable apartment in which lectures might be given and works of art exhibited"—and also to form a Museum of Antiquities and of the various branches of Natural History.

The formation of the Library at the first establishment of the Institution was committed to the Rev. T. Watson, Rev. J. Hunter, Dr. Davis, Philip Bury Duncan, Esq., and T. Wilkinson, Esq., and in the first two years above £1800 was expended in the purchase of books which were selected with considerable judgment; the chief aim of the Committee being to make it pre-eminently a Library for consultation and reference, and rather to procure large and expensive works of a high standard of literature than such as would be met with in the private libraries of the members. Works of mere temporary interest or curiosity were rejected and those only selected that were of known and permanent value, which might be useful to all classes of persons engaged in scientific researches and literary pursuits. Many works of great value including folio editions of the Greek Classics were presented by the Rev. H. H. Hayes. The Library is also rich in the works of the early historians of our own country.

The former Catalogue of the Library was compiled about the year 1829, and during the fifty years which have elapsed since its publication the contents of the Library have increased fourfold. As an index therefore to the valuable works contained upon the shelves, this catalogue had become comparatively useless, and a new edition was a matter of necessity.

In the compilation of the present Catalogue the alphabetical arrangement under the authors' names has been generally followed; the only attempt at classification has been under the head of "Sacred Scriptures." Biographies will be found, with few exceptions, under the names of the persons whose lives are recorded as well as under those of the authors. One important feature in the Catalogue is the insertion in alphabetical order of the names of the several writers whose works are contained in the large Historical Collections of Gronovius, Grævius, Polenus, Sallengre, Historiæ Scriptores Romanæ, and in the collections of our early English Historians Camden, Trysden, Fulman and Gale, and also of the several writers in the collections of Voyages and Travels, and in the more recent publications of the Palæontographical and Manx Societies.

The Chapman Collection of Books relating to the City of Bath, deposited by the late Captain J. J. Chapman at the Institution, being the property of the Corporation, are not included in the present Catalogue.

The Rev. Leonard Jenyns (now Blomefield) in the year 1860 presented to the Institution the scientific portion of his valuable library, (now known as the "Jenyns Library") amounting at the present time to more than 1600 volumes, together with his Herbarium of British Plants contained in forty folio volumes. The conditions on which these books were presented were that they should be kept in a separate room so as to be preserved distinct from the General Library. These books are therefore not included in the Catalogue; a manuscript catalogue with classified index having been drawn up by the donor, which is placed in the room set apart for the reception of the Library.

The Library of the Bath and West of England Society for the encouragement of Agriculture, &c. has been deposited at the Institution, a Catalogue of which is added to the present work.

The position of the shelves of the Reading Room and Library renders a complete classification and division of subjects somewhat difficult; the following references will however give some approximation to the arrangement adopted. The entire Library is divided into nine sections which are again sub-divided into cases, the shelves being numbered from the bottom upward, and the books arranged upon the shelves in alphabetical order.
